INCORPORATED

Corporate Profile

At ChromaScape, all of our companies are driven to excellence by this core principle: creating Real Tangible Value™ for every stakeholder while never compromising the integrity or safety of our associates or the environment.

Overview:

Established in 1998, ChromaScape, Inc., is recognized as one of the world's top producers of aqueous color dispersions. Through our five manufacturing and distribution facilities across the U.S., we provide the market with full lines of water-based colorants under brand names like Amerimulch, Heartland, Ajack Black, Permablak, Aquablak® and True. These products are used in many different markets for a wide variety of applications.

ChromaScape focuses on providing effective, safe and environmentally friendly colorants to make the world brighter and more attractive. Our talented workforce has the ability, creativity and innovativeness to find original solutions to your coloring needs. From our people to our products, everything about us contributes to providing tangible value to our customers. The company has a wealth of experience in the colorant industry and is committed to building a sustainable organization that will continue to thrive well into the future.

Industries:

ChromaScape and its brands operate in many industries. What unites each business endeavor is the opportunity to turn loose our innovative, market-driven, problem-solving capacity.

Though we have certainly developed a strong niche in aqueous colorant products, our capabilities in creating innovative, market-driven solutions for products enable us to look to broader horizons. At the heart of each pursuit is a commitment to innovation and creating Real Tangible Value™ for all of our customers. We will follow this spirit wherever it leads.

Commitment:

It all starts with our people. Some of the finest technical minds from all across the country make our companies what they are. With deep-seated, ground-level knowledge of all the industries they operate within and serve, our associates bring a “do whatever it takes” mentality to each task, turning any problem into a challenge worthy of a great solution. That takes dedication to those industries, to the environment, to safety and to customer-support long after the sale. We call this Real Tangible Value – our commitment to always develop innovative, environmentally safe products and solutions that add to the profitability of our customers.

Innovation:

We are sincerely devoted to our customers and our markets. But that devotion only has merit when backed by industry-leading technology and a steadfast dedication to research and development. Innovation and, by association, technology is the spirit that drives us. It is the spirit we look for with each hire and the spirit we continually encourage among our associates. An embedded characteristic of our culture, striving to achieve a perfect balance of innovation, technology and market-driven solutions that make our customers stand apart in their industries.
